• The main goal of this project is to engage the students in an exciting, hands-on project involving use of text features and presentation skills that will effectively make the lesson unforgettable, and, therefore, enable students to achieve higher assessment results.

• Another goal is to instill in the students the benefits of collaboration: fulfilling individual roles and taking advantage of different learning styles within a group to deliver a product more quickly and effectively.

• A final goal is to foster creative expression and understanding of a lesson concept that goes beyond traditional paper-pencil method.
Objectives

- LAFS.68.RH.3.7: Integrate visual information (e.g., in charts, graphs, photographs, videos, or maps) with other information in print and digital texts.
- LAFS.68.RST.1.3: Follow precisely a multistep procedure when carrying out experiments, taking measurements, or performing technical tasks.
- LAFS.8.L.2.3: Use knowledge of language and its conventions when writing, speaking, reading, or listening.
- LAFS.K12.SL.2.4: Present information, findings, and supporting evidence such that listeners can follow the line of reasoning and the organization, development, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.
- LAFS.K12.L.1.1: Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.
- LAFS.K12.R.3.7: Integrate and evaluate content presented in diverse media and formats, including visually and quantitatively, as well as in words.
- LAFS.K12.SL.1.1: Prepare for and participate effectively in a range of conversations and collaborations with diverse partners, building on others’ ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.
- LAFS.K12.SL.2.5: Make strategic use of digital media and visual displays of data to express information and enhance understanding of presentations.
1. Students learn the concepts and different kinds of text features in class through various instructional lessons created by the teacher.

2. Students collaborate in pairs or groups to complete the Billboard Text Features Project.

3. Students present their completed Billboard Text Features Projects, thereby reviewing the concepts.
   a. It is at the teacher’s discretion to decide how many grades the project is worth; the “Rubric” is applicable no matter how many grades awarded.
   b. Recommendation: assign extra credit ‘A’ to top 3 projects, as chosen by the teacher.

4. Students are assessed, through the teacher’s own methods, on their understanding of the concepts.

5. This project can be adapted to fit almost any lesson concept, such as literary elements, figurative language terms, affixes, or even branch out into other subjects such as biology and math.
Lesson Plan

Days 1-2:

1. Distribute “Project Guidelines & Rubric” to the students and review with them.
2. Allow students to get into pairs/groups or choose pairs/groups for them. Pairs/groups ranging from 2-4.
3. Distribute the text features resource and review with the groups.
4. Assign each group a different concept for their project. For example, groups in my class each read a different classic novel and completed an assortment of literary elements exercises and text analyses in the form of text features, so it was essentially a comprehensive book report in the form of a presentable “billboard.”
5. Groups brainstorm on paper and begin drawing the rough draft version of their billboard.
6. Group members decide what each person is responsible for bringing and completing in the project, in terms of materials and work tasks.

Days 3-5:

1. Students utilize their materials, resources, and talents to complete their part of the billboard.
2. Students use textbooks, notes, and/or other sources to pull their information.
3. Continually monitor each group to ensure adequate progress.
4. The day before the assignment is due, review the project guidelines again with the students, who then check off their own guidelines to ensure completion of their part of the project.
5. Review speaking and listening expectations as presenters and audience members.

Days 6-7:

1. Groups present their billboard projects, one group at a time. Each member of a group is responsible for presenting a part of the project.
2. During presentations, audience members take notes in the Audience Participation Chart for a grade.
3. Students can help the teacher determine the top 3.
4. Notes from the Audience Participation Charts can be used to help students prepare for an assessment.

Materials:

- Supplied in class » Computer paper, constructions paper, coloring supplies, scissors, glue, etc.
- Additional suggested supplies for students to obtain » Poster board (mandatory), glitter, modeling clay, stickers, fabric pieces, etc.
*Note: The concept illustrated in these project guidelines involves students analyzing a classic novel for various literary elements, and then working in pairs to read their assigned book for homework and complete a text-features billboard project over the course of a month.

Components to be Displayed on a Poster Board:

- Large title of book
- Author’s name with picture of author
- A collage of pictures of the different settings of the story or one illustration of a map with pinpoints labeled of important places in the story
- A diagram of the plot of the story with each element labeled and a brief description of each event in the story
- Brief timeline of author’s life showing significant events
- List of main characters, a brief description of their importance to the story, and a profile picture of each
- An original, colored illustration depicting the scene of the climax of the story
- An answer in a textbox for each of the following questions:
  - Why is this novel considered a “classic”?
  - What type of conflict does the story have? Internal or external? If external, what type? Give evidence from the story.
  - How is the protagonist different at the end of the story, then how he/she was at the beginning? Use quotations from the story as support.
  - What is your favorite scene and why?
- A star-rating system from 1-3 indicating how many stars you give the book: one star for “didn’t enjoy it,” two stars for “it was okay,” and three stars for “it was great!”
A current informational article about a social issue related to the novel. Write a 1-page analysis of the relationship between the article and the novel.
  o 1 paragraph summary of article
  o 1 paragraph analysis of social issue in novel and article + citing evidence (include copy of article)
